

This weekend Team IRONMODS will be competing in Tom's Hardware Overdrive Overclocking Contest USA Qualifier at their offices in Culver City California. Our team will be competing against 3 other highly qualified teams from the across the US. The winner of this contest will travel to Paris and represent the US in the World Champion Competing.

The team has been preparing themselves for the competition, and you have seen the World Records. Hopefully with a little patience, a lot of skills, and a bit of good luck, they will bring home the win. We will post pictures of the events and results next weekend. We want to wish Team IRONMODS good luck in their competition!!!
